? ? greets missing

untill we have all been paid up that's the reason I didn't get this written to you sooner, I think I told you in my note that I received the box alright The silk Waist is beautiful Capt was real pleased over it, I have^{nt} had time to fit the others we had to pack them almost as soon as they reached Bay City & they dint unpacked yet, I thank you for sending the wrist holder & for stitching it; it was very kind of you & I notice the little
g. handkerchief it has forgot-me nots in one corner I certainly shall not forget you, altho we are a long way from you now I wonder when we shall see you again, how is Mrs. Bonds I do hope better by now,

I believe we shall like Linton all right & feel more at home than we did in B. C. we have a nice cottage a block & half from the Hall which we appreciate after the other place, we have a fine crowd of soldiers & every body seems so kind Linton is^{nt} so large as B. C. but it seems a very pretty place, have you sold your piece of ground yet? I was telling Capt about it - he is quite interested in it; you may be getting a customer for it from this way, yet keep believing, you remember that pair of paper I was going to get, well the people have moved & they couldn't find it - but if they do they are going to send it on to me. I have purposely ~~omitted~~ omitted mentioning names thought it best, for fear the letter went astray,

Victor as just come in & wants to no if I am writing Mr Sands, I tell him yes but that you don't want to hear anything from him he's such a naughty boy he says he won't & he'll try to be good, he is always promising, the boys send love they started school again this week they are wondering if they are going to get there visit to you this summer now they have come so far they will be disappointed if they don't I must really close same not all well this week & I feel so tired, good bye & God bless you both with love I remain Yr sincere friend Mr Capt Kerinslow P.S. Capt wishes to be remembered to you
